FINE ORIENTAL COSTUMES FOR NEW TEAL BILL

"A Trip to Chinatown," says the press agent for the Raymond Teal Company, "is by far one of the best bills that the company will produce here. For scenic effects, rich and gorgeous Oriental costumes and novel, laugh provoking situations, this bill at the Bijou theater for the latter part of this week will eclipse anything that Raymond Teal has yet produced here."

The scene of the play is laid in Chinatown in Los Angeles, and much realism has been injected into the scenic effects by Artists Phillips and Marcelle.

"Art Phillips, the clever Chinese impersonator with the Teal Company, who made a decided hit two weeks ago in a Chinese specialty, will be seen at his best tonight as the mayor of Chinatown. As Sing Yee, a pretty little Chinese maiden, who is married to Dr. Jazbo, an itinerant medicine fakir, Panay De Lacour plays an important role in this production. Fritz Fields is cast for the part of Dr. Jazbo and around him much of the comedy of the play develops."

"For the first time since she has been in Honolulu Hazel Lake will do a black-face specialty. Raymond Teal, also a blackface, will assist Hazel in putting several good things over the footlights. Homer Long and the girls will sing 'Chinatown My Chinatown.' Madeline Rowe, who is always popular with a Honolulu audience, will sing 'California and You.'"

ACTOR ALMOST LOST HIS LIFE BEFORE CAMERA

One of Oliver Morosco's favorite stars—Myrtle Steadman—and the leading man in the big Morosco Stock Company of Los Angeles—Forrest Stanley—are co-starring in "The Wild Olive," the Paramount offering at the Liberty theater for the last half of the week. Myrtle Steadman has been seen in the Paramount service in a number of offerings and has created a most favorable impression. With Stanley in the cast they are boosted on the mainland as a strong and clever team. This is their initial offering together, but it is stated that Morosco is planning other big features in which he will use both of these stars.

"The Wild Olive" is said to be the most spectacular and elaborate of all of the Morosco photo-plays, a wealth of attention having been paid to details. For instance, the rogues' gallery of one of the largest cities in America is drawn upon for one of the thrilling scenes with which the play abounds. In one of the mountain scenes Forrest Stanley almost lost his life when his canoe overturned in the icy waters.

Chapter 10 of "The Diamond from the Sky" deals mostly with the Far West, to which land Arthur Stanley, under an assumed name, has escaped. In this section we now find Blair, Vivian Marsden, now Mrs. Blair Stanley and the great jewel. The chapter is filled with thrills.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AS PROPERTY MAN

Opening tonight at the Popular theater, Charlie Chaplin, the great comedian, will be the headliner. He will appear in a big two-reel Keystone production entitled "The Property Man," said to be one of the funniest things Chaplin has ever done for the movies.

Recently Chaplin went over to the Keystone producers, who are celebrated for their comedy pictures, and in the mainland Chaplin in "The Property Man" has made a remarkable hit. The second feature on Manager Hughes' bill is another fine offering entitled "The Wages of Sin." This picture deals with crime in New York City and particularly with phases of the celebrated Rosenthal murder, as a sequel to which four gunmen and former Police Lieutenant Charles S. Becker forfeited their lives in the electric chair. The picture shows, among other things, Harry Vallon, Sam Schepps and Jack Rose, all of whom were implicated in the murder of Rosenthal but turned state's evidence to escape the electric chair.

The program also will include three other good reels.

SHOWS MOLOKAI'S FOURTH OF JULY

In the motion picture show to be given by R. K. Bonine at the Opera House Sunday evening there will be seen many different phases of Hawaii, ranging from Kilauea in action to Haleakala, the Molokai settlement, fish fishing scenes, views of the Mid-Pacific carnivals of recent years and the United States army on Oahu.

The films of the Molokai settlement will be interesting to Kamaaina as well as malihini, for comparatively few persons have seen the settlement, and the pictures give the next best idea to actually visiting Kalaupapa and Kalawao. Mr. Bonine selected the Fourth of July observance of this year, thus getting not only the life of the settlement and its people, but showing them in the unusual merry-making of the Fourth.

Gathering to see the Fourth of July events is first on the film; then comes the Fourth of July parade, led by the settlement police, churches, schools and societies; the new riders, representing the five principal islands of the group, Molokai, Maui, Hawaii, Kauai and Oahu; horse-racing, for which only animals bred at the settlement might be entered; the general store and scenes about the sea; Dr. W. G. Goodhue, resident physician, and Superintendent Jack McVeigh in consultation; a panorama of Kalawao, the settlement of Father Damien's church and of the Baldwin home for boys; Brother Joseph Dutton, who is doing the work Damien did before he died on Molokai; Brother Dutton and a group of inmates; the rocks of Kalawao, where the sea beats furiously; a view of the federal experiment station, and other scenes on the little peninsula that juts into the sea under the shadow of the immense windward wall of Molokai.

With the exception of a single private run of this film, which was seen by Mr. McVeigh and a few others, the Molokai scenes have not been shown in Honolulu, and they are expected to be quite as interesting to Kamaainas as to malihinis.

Tickets for the Bonine pictures went on sale at the Territorial Messenger Service this morning.

'ROMANY WIFE' IS FULL OF THRILLS

The exciting story of love and adventure, with a decided element of intrigue, in the book by Anne Derwent has been successfully dramatized and is now offered in a splendidly screened version, and as "The Romany Wife" it will be presented at the Empire theater today. Viola Vale, who is a most attractive figure on the silent stage, has been given a leading role in the two-part drama. Miss Vale is ably supported by Louise Smythe, Franklin Ritchie and Allen Hall, with an all-star company of players.

In an adaptation of a story from stageland, Maurice Costello and Estelle Mando play important parts in the great dramatic success, "The Understudy." Tragic scenes, comedy episodes and picturesque features make this production one of extraordinary interest. Gladden James, a general favorite, will reappear at the Empire in this new play. F. Dazey has produced a faithful representation of real life behind the scenes.

One of the best wild animal pictures offered in this city of late will be shown in the drama "Love and the Leopard." A series of thrilling situations terminates in the scene where the hero is caught in the leopard trap. Marian Sals makes an initial appearance in the comedy, "The Cause of It All."
